

HARRY RUDDOCK III

ARTIST

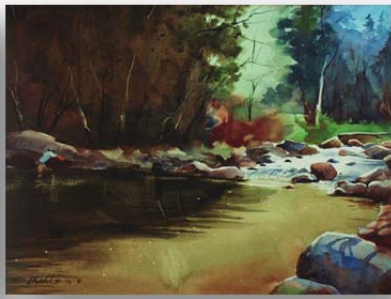

Biography

Harry Ruddock III has been painting local scenes for over 30 years in a variety of media, with the past 25 plus years devoted to watercolor. As a resident of Deerfield, Ma., it gives him inspiration in many New England scenes and in New England life. He is a mostly self-taught artist who has attended art studies at Greenfield Community College and has worked with other local artists. His paintings are the result of daily observations of his surroundings, the people, nature and how they all interact with one another. Harry Ruddock is a signature member of the New England Watercolor Society, a member of the Deerfield Valley Art Association and the Old Deerfield Painting Group.
